

Traditio

Original traditional decor

The traditional valve is one of our best-selling valve models due to its beautiful vintage design. It was used all over Europe in the first half of the 20th century. Classic Comfort has revived this model and started producing it in the last few years. It is made out of brass and it comes in different finishes. The regulation handle has a lever shape and is very easy to use. The elegant contrast between the black lever and the remaining components of the valve makes it a must have for an original traditional décor. It is suitable for all types of cast iron radiators.

This vintage design valve fits any room and is sure to add a touch of history to the entire interior design. Not to mention it is also very resistant and easy to use.
